Dear Quincy Public Schools Elementary School Parents and Guardians,

Now that Massachusetts Governor Charles Baker has ordered that all schools will be closed until May 4, 2020, the Quincy Public Schools will implement curriculum continuity for student education within the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education's (DESE) Guidance on Remote Learning shared with school districts on March 26 and 27. Launching our Remote Learning plan to reach our over 9,900 students with 850 professional staff members collaborating with principals and administrators is a complex challenge. As we all know, remote learning cannot reasonably replace daily in-person instructional programs and we will not attempt to replicate the regular school day.

Our remote student learning plan will continue the engagement of students in developmentally appropriate ways, while being mindful of the challenges students and families face with technology, health, disability, and language challenges. Our plan includes the continued use of paper learning packets, video broadcasts, lessons/assignments and learning materials posted to platforms that students and educators have a comfort level with. The remote assignments are not for grading purposes, but teachers will provide feedback.

This week, all elementary staff should be preparing assignments that provide opportunity for review and expanding on previously taught skills and concepts beginning on Monday, April 6. Teachers will begin the process of contacting students to share details regarding curriculum plans moving forward. If your middle school student has issues with regular access to a computer, please let your principal know.

All staff members will communicate through Quincy Public Schools email accounts and respond in a timely manner during regular school hours to student or parent emails. Once again, I thank you for your patience during this unprecedented time in all of our lives.

Sincerely,

Richard DeCristofaro, Ed.D.
Superintendent of Schools
